- Presentations should be either original research which has been substantially completed or a review of literature which has not yet been published as a full paper in a scientific journal.
  - Abstracts must be written in English and must be free of grammatical errors. Ensuring linguistic accuracy is the sole responsibility of the author. Abstracts that are not well written and which also do not conform with the guidelines will be rejected.
  - The abstract should be concise and made up of introduction, materials and methods, results and discussion, conclusion, acknowledgement, relevant references or an appropriate format for review of literature.
- NOTE: A literature review should have basic elements including an introduction or background information section; the body of the review containing the discussion of sources; and, finally, a conclusion and/or recommendations section to end the paper.
- If you choose to include tables, graphs, or figures, they must fit within the margins (1 inch or 2.54 cm) and within page limits.
  - Include a table and/or figure title, units, indications of the statistical approach and significance.
